

Best Asset & Private Wealth Management Firm 2023 - Germany

V.M.Z Vermögensverwaltungsgesellschaft has been operating for almost 30 years, pursuing the goal of providing the highest calibre of service and catering to the individual needs of clients. Offering a plethora of classic and individualised management strategies to suit both private and institutional investors, Dr. Markus C. Zschaber and his team offer clients unique, independent, and highly professional concepts designed to best manage their assets and wealth. He enjoys the highest reputation and is considered by many to be one of the most experienced and renowned asset managers in all of Germany.

Dr. Zschaber has received numerous awards for his work as both a fund and portfolio manager and is known in many circles as an n-tv stock market expert. During the European debt crisis of 2009/10, he made himself available to political bodies as an external advisor and was involved in many discussions in Brussels on topics such as sovereign debt, inflation, and ECB policy. In addition to this, a plethora of institutional, public, and charitable mandates testify to the exceptional service provided in the fields of asset and portfolio management, since he and his team began specialising in this complex and demanding area in 1994.

As a bank-independent company, the business can analyse and review all the investment solutions available on the market, selecting them for its own asset management concepts, from shares and funds to government or corporate bonds. A rigorous in-house research process is adopted in order to ensure all possible asset classes are thoroughly examined, with the most important prerequisite ultimately being the suitability of the investor and client for a respective investment strategy and making sure all in-house quality requirements are fulfilled.

Across Germany, there are only a handful of asset management companies that have been adorned with consistently high ratings and featured in renowned financial media and business press as V.M.Z have, and this proves to prospective clients, and the industry more broadly, that the firm's asset management solutions offer unique opportunities to be active in the markets and achieve one's personal and financial goals. Over the past two decades and counting, the firm have been able to convince an array of private and institutional investors in the power of sourcing a suitable form of investment, from a business with years of working expertly with transparency and integrity aplenty.

Within the company's vast range of investment solutions for both private and institutional investors, the right form of investment can be offered for every need. This promise is grounded in the know-how and personal qualities and attributes of Dr. Zschaber and the rest of the management team. With V.M.Z, clients choose which active management concepts they want to invest in, with the effectiveness of these strategies being contingent on risk groups from conservative to growth oriented. As a part of the stellar service provided, employees take the time to personally understand and analyse an individual's set of circumstances, working directly with clients to ensure priorities are specified and work in tangent with the chosen strategy. For those seeking out institutional investments or larger family assets, there is the possibility to create a completely original, individually defined strategy, set up a special fund, or take over the management of an existing fund.

V.M.Z always prioritise your security and is subject to control and supervision by the German Federal Financial Supervisory Authority and the Deutsche Bundesbank. In order to ensure the best possible care is taken of an investment, several key and secure strategies have been put into place. For instance, all accounts are in the customer's name at a selected bank, and only that person can dispose of the funds. Cooperation takes place exclusively with renowned and reputable companies, and continuous information is provided to clients about current developments in the financial markets, which can be adapted to a frequency of the client's choosing.

All these products and services will be explained in full by the friendly and helpful team of consultants. With a company motto of "Create wealth and maintain value", investors can be sure their best interests are always fully valued and protected. Spurred on by this aim, the in-house team, consisting of a host of highly professional specialist staff, consistently achieve the best results on every long-term investment and will continue to benefit the lives of their clients for generations to come.
